

Things We Love

Stonz Booties Are A Must Have For Any Family With An Active Toddler!

Keeping shoes on my two year old is a challenge. It's a challenge for any parent with a toddler! Why? When they reach that age category, their independence runs wild...which also means that they love for their feet to be free (from shoes) and wild too. It's been a proven fact in this house that when the walking starts, the struggle to keep shoes on their feet begins.

That's why I am thrilled to tell you about this company that definitely had parents like us in mind when they created this amazing booties and products as well. They are now available in the U.S. and are here to stay (on our children's feet).

Our two year old just received this awesome (and adorable, I might add) pair of STONZ booties (sent to us free of charge for the review). Now, they might not look like much, but these booties are ready to get rough and tough with your active toddler.

How do I know that...believe me, my two year old will put anything on his feet to the test!

A few facts about these booties (straight from their website):

A versatile all season bootie that can be worn over shoes, Stonz Linerz, slippers or bare feet.

Durable coated nylon upper provides wind and water-resistance.

Fleece lining provides warmth and comfort.

Wide opening designed to slip on easily.

Two adjustable toggles at calf and ankle provide custom fit and ensure Booties stay on!

Rubberized, skid-resistant soft soles.

Machine wash and dry, inside out on delicate cycle.

If you are desperate for a way to keep your toddlers feet warm, dry and safe this winter, please check out the selection of amazing booties, hatz and mittz that www.stonzwear.com offers!