

MOM
TRENDS®

Trends and Tips
for living a fashionable and fabulous life

February is Expecting
Moms
Month

Best Snow Boots for Kids

POSTED BY ELIZABETH LEACH ON SUNDAY, JANUARY 30, 2011

We've looked long and hard for the best snow boots for your tots. We admit becoming a little obsessive about checking the weather forecast this winter. We know we're not crazy. So, let's talk snow boots. These are my favorites and not only do they get the job done, but they look fabulous, too.

It really is snowing more than most winters and considering that it's only the end of January, we'll have a whole lot more snow before that little rascal ground hog goes back in his hole or comes out and sees his shadow... or whatever he does. Be prepared to keep your kiddos toes toasty and dry with one of these choices.

For my younger daughter, I've been using Stonz Baby Booties and they are brilliant! Basically, they are water-resistant nylon bags that are worn over their shoes or socks. But they're also adorable with bright, contemporary colors and fun images like dragon-flies, dinosaurs, butterflies, skull and cross bones and many more. Cozy fleece liners are available for extra comfort and warmth. Two adjustable toggles ensure a snug fit. I love that I can slip them over Robeez or any indoor shoe and my toddler is ready for the snow! For ages newborn to 2.5 years. By the way, a bunch of styles are on-sale right now!

<http://www.momtrends.com/2011/01/best-snow-boots-for-kids.html#more>